

WHY IS YOUR ORGANIZATION ONLY FOR SUPER SUCCESSFUL BACHELORS AND BACHELORETTES?

The SMC, and its affiliated companies, have been providing various venues for singles to meet...Corporate-level executives, and successful entrepreneurs for over 25 years. The busy CEO joins our group because, as a top income earner, he/she has zero time or inclination to socialize unless it's to meet a qualified professional. Online dating isn't an option for these successful people – they keep their love life private, not showcased on online dating sites!

We're not a match-making service. We're not an online matching site.

You have to do the work. We provide you with an opportunity to showcase yourself to those people that you'll find compelling.

We give you the opportunity to showcase the way you live by hosting a party at your home. On a recent Caribbean cruise, one of our new members hosted a surprise cocktail & dinner party in his suite, butler and all, for 18 of us.

Offering to be a host is not unusual, but it is a way to establish who you are.

On a trip to Italy, one night on the Isle of Capri, another one of our members hired a boat for a sunset cocktail cruise around the island. It was magical.

If you can justify spending $100,000 for Mercedes, $900,000 for a condo, $2M for a second home on the Cape, or $10,000 for a river cruise, then joining our group is essential to making new, quality friends. *'Water seeks its own level.'

Many people have worked hard, saved religiously, reached an envious level of financial security; yet stingily guard that wealth all the way to the grave.

Financial success is not in acquiring it, it's how you share it. Having a strong 401, a significant income and enviable assets may establish a comfort level for you, but means nothing if you don't have someone to share it with.

Marriage is not for everyone, but having a meaningful relationship with an enjoyable companion could be 'what money can't buy'.
